WE will at once rebuild our warehouse, and we will have it completed by the 15th of September, but by the first day of that month we will be ready to receive goods on store

The sheds will be divided into fire proof compartments by brick walls, and covered with tin. Those who have patronized us for the last two seasons, and those who may have proposed to do so the approaching one, may rest assured we will be ready for them.

We design establishing a Cotton Compress in connection with our warehouse, upon an adjacent lot, which will be ready by the 1st of October or sooner. The proximity of our establishment to the river renders the handling of cotton so convenient that we can transfer cotton for shipment by river free of drayage. The advantage of the position is equal to one dollar a bale on all cotton put compressment from other warehouses, while on all cotton in our warehouse for compressment there can be two drayages saved, since it would be as easy for us to transfer it from our shed to the Compress as to turn it out in the ordinary way for transfer by drays

LECTURE ON YELLOW FEVER.

Its History, Character and Treatment.

From the New York Sun.]

Dr. Warren Stone, of New Orleans, delivered a lecture at Bellevue college, yesterday morning, before a large number of medical gentlemen and students, on the origin, nature and treatment of yellow fever, on which disease the doctor's extensive experience and high reputation render him excellent authority. Dr. Stone is a native of Massachusetts, [or New Hampshire?] and a graduate of Berkshire Medical college, but since 1835 he has resided in New Orleans, and has for many years been regarded as the leading surgeon of the south. He now holds the position of professor of surgery in the Medical college at New Orleans, connected with the University of Louisiana.

Dr. Stone was introduced by Professor Austin Flint, and after a graceful acknowledgment of the kind reception he had met in this city, which he had not visited for seven years previously, he took up the subject of yellow fever, in which he said there were many points open for discussion. It was a disease peculiar to warm latitudes, but its limits could not be defined by any exact temperature or climatic conditions, for exceptions would frequently occur to falsify any such restriction. Nothing more definite could be said than that it was a disease incident to warm climates, and induced by a peculiar poison totally intangible and disconnected from any known causes of disease. There was no combination of filth, no combination of circumstances calculated to deteriorate health and excite typhoid or typhus fevers that had anything to do with the generation of yellow fever. This remarkable fact was not generally known. Some federal officers had taken credit to themselves for keeping yellow fever out of New Orleans during their occupation of that city; but it was a notorious fact that the city was not cleaner then, in the suburbs and low regions, than it had often been before. The weather happened to be cooler, and there was less rain; but there was no material difference in any other respect. They had had six years of exemption previously, when there was no quarantine whatever. Yellow fever fixed upon high and healthy localities, and proved as virulent there as in the low regions. The magnolia ridges, N. of New Orleans, was one of the healthiest regions in the world, yet the yellow fever proved quite as destructive there as in less favored regions. Indeed, the disease was always more violent in the country, when it once prevailed there, than in cities.

In regard to the aetiology or causes of yellow fever there had been much dispute. It had been a question whether it was imported or of local origin. It certainly was not imported in cities. An epidemic influence was wafted through the atmosphere in waves or cycles, and always made gradual and regular approaches; so that in New Orleans they knew when it was coming by its prevalence in the islands in the Gulf. In the year 1851 it began in Brazil, and after passing over the northern part of South America and the West India islands, it reached New Orleans in 1853. In 1855 it had traveled as far as Memphis, and was severe in many of the interior towns. Its history in New Orleans the present year was remarkable. It first appeared in a mild form, and in several places at once, in June, and though the weather was favorable to its spread, it did not increase in intensity, and only about nine cases occurred per week. These cases evidently originated in the city. But later in the season a fresh wave approached from the direction of Mexico, appearing in a violent form in Indianola, Galveston and New Iberia, and finally in New Orleans, where it appeared in a severe form, and in increasing ratio, though the weather was of the kind considered unfavorable to its propagation.

This was the general history of the disease. It fixed upon a place and ran its course. Increasing in a definite ratio, declining in the same way, and finally disappearing, but for the time being affecting all who were exposed to its influence. It was true, however, that debility and other reasons rendered some persons much more susceptible than others to the peculiar poison; but this was the case with all diseases.

The question of its contagiousness was of great importance, and which ought to be settled, both for the interests of suffering from this disease and the benefit of mankind in the matter of quarantine. "I am perfectly convinced," said the doctor, "beyond all doubt or hesitation, that personally it is not contagious; I know that it is not." If the disease were contagious once it would always be so, for it was the same disease in all places. It was a specific disease, and the same person had it but once; acclimation was perpetual, but it was very hard to convince the human understanding where. There were exceptions to these rules, as there were to those governing small pox. He had observed, himself, first, and indirectly, and the result of his observations had led him to believe yellow fever non-contagious. In 1833 he arrived in New Orleans, and went into the Charity hospital on duty. The hospital became full, and as there was great crowding of cases it became filthy. The passages were often filled with bed sacks covered with excrement and black vomit, so that a sort of typhoid fever was generated; yet the persons employed there escaped yellow fever, and he ate it himself until late in the season, after these conditions had been remedied. In 1853 he had an infirmary in which three hundred cases of yellow fever, treated by ten or twelve Sisters of Charity, all of whom were unacclimated, yet they were in

OUR NATIONAL FINANCES—THE NEW ISSUES OF THE HOUR.

The New York Herald says that it is a common and correct remark that people in political matters, as well as in those of business, are governed by their interests. However common the remark may be, it is not correct. In all political matters the people are governed infinitely more by prejudice and passion, clap-trap and jabber of politicians and this or the other popular war-cry or cant phrase, than by reason or their interests; and they almost invariably do that which is directly against their interests and most ruinous for themselves and the country.

It is true that when not inflamed by passion, they will follow the direction in which they think their interest lies. And it is equally true that when they do that, they more generally consult expediency than right and justice. It is not true to say, with the Herald, that in the end they rarely fail to see what tends to their interest, and act accordingly. On the contrary, they rarely see it, and rarely act accordingly; and consequently, legislation in republics is, ordinarily, only a succession of mistakes.

But, undoubtedly, where the people can clearly see their pecuniary interests, they will be governed by them; and the Herald truly says:

We may be sure that it will not be long before our national finances must become the great question which will occupy politicians and statesmen, and on which parties will be divided and reorganized. The political troubles of the time, growing out of the war, involving chiefly the question of reconstruction and restoration of the southern states, with the collateral issues between the executive, congress and the judiciary, must soon come to an end—unless, indeed, the radical Chase politicians, with the high tariff men, the bondholders and the national banks, should be able to keep the country in a state of disorganization for their own purposes. The people are becoming very impatient under the state of things existing at present, and, we believe, will demand a cessation of agitation and a return to harmony. They are positively disgusted and worn out with the war of factions over the late rebel states and the negroes, which they see has no other object than the power and spoils of office. The people of California have led off in their election against this wearisome and dangerous agitation, and there is reason to believe the other states in the fall elections will follow. The politicians will be checked in their ruinous course by the all powerful voice of the people. Then will come up in all its bearings the subject of our national finances, including the revenue system, taxation, the management and payment of the debt, the currency and the national banks.

We see already this important subject looming up, and prominent public men in different sections of the country are taking their ground for the contest, irrespective of old party issues or affiliations. We noticed a short time since the address of one of the ablest men of the democratic party in the west, Mr. Pendleton, on the question. This gentleman showed in an able manner the ruinous policy of the on-to-specie-payment theorists, of the national bank monopolists, and the grasping bondholders. He expressed, undoubtedly, the views, not only of the mass of his own party, but the mass of all parties in the west, for the Chicago Tribune and other leading radical organs of a press similar views. A few days ago the opinions of a bold New England radical leader, Gen. Butler, were circulated through the press. Few men are shrewder than he, and though he did not prove to be much of a war horse at Fort Fisher, he can scent the political battle afar off. Here are two prominent men, of different sections of the country and belonging to opposite parties, agreeing in the main upon financial matters. Both are opposed to a contraction of currency and to the monstrous national-bank monopoly; both denounce the shameful donation of twenty to thirty millions a year in the profits on national circulation—profits which rightly belong to the people and government and which ought to go into the treasury; both are in favor of making the national debt uniform in character, of reducing the interest, and of paying it off as speedily as possible in currency—the same money which the government received when contracting it; and they agree that we should have a uniform legal tender circulation, and that government securities should be taken as other property is. There are many other prominent men, particularly in the west, who hold similar opinions. This was seen in the debates of congress during the last two or three seasons. Even the veteran Pennsylvania statesman, Thad. Stevens, stood firmly against the contraction policy. Never in the history of any country, perhaps, did the public men and the people make so much progress in getting right views on an important matter as they have in the country on the subject of our national finances. Two or three years ago it was little understood. Congressmen and the people were led by the Chase and McCulloch school of financial quacks; but latterly they have become better instructed. A great change is going on in public sentiment, and it will not be long before this country will emancipate itself both from the crude theories of our own financial tyros and the exploded dogmas of British bullionists.

This second issue, which now begins to loom up prominently, must be the absorbing one. Far seeing statesmen, as we have noticed, are preparing themselves for the contest. The national bank monopoly will have to go under; we shall have to come to a uniform currency, and that of government legal tenders; the bondholders will have to bear a part of the burdens of taxation as other people do; contraction of the currency must be resisted, and an ample circulation maintained to promote the active industry of the country, and till a large portion of the debt be paid. The debt should be paid by currency—in the same money as was given for it, and the whole should be consolidated in one form, with reduced interest, and be placed in process of regular liquidation. This is the platform of the future, the one to which the mass of the people everywhere will rally. Whatever party adopts it will be the party of the future, and the political leaders who place themselves upon it will be the coming men that are to govern the republic.

We give these notions of the Herald for what they are worth. We may, some day, discuss the honesty of paying bonds that were sold for currency, and which are not on their face expressed to be payable in currency, in that same currency when it has become greatly depreciated. A note not expressed to be payable in something else, is in law payable in coin; and if it was intended that the legal-tender act should apply to the liabilities of the Government, that should have been stated in language too plain and positive to be misunderstood.

In the first place, we do not believe that Congress had the power to make the notes of the Treasury a legal-tender, even between individual and individual. There is no grant to it of any such power; and, so far as such a law effects contracts existing at its passage, it is a portion of fraud and rascality.

In the second place, if such a law is valid, it is legislation as to contracts between man and man; but as to contracts made by the government, it is a mere declaration, by one party to the contract, of what it will do in performance of such contract. As to existing contracts, it is simply null, without the consent of the other party. The United States have no right or charter to violate their contracts. That is not one of the powers of government. Neither the people nor the States have given the United States the power to make scoundrels of people or States. The United States are but the States united; and these States could not give themselves that power collectively, which they positively prohibited to each other individually.

In issuing paper and selling bonds, a State lays aside its Sovereignty and becomes a Contractor, assuming obligations from which no act of its own can relieve it. If it declares itself freed from them, or that it may discharge them in currency, this is no law. It is but its own declaration of what it will or will not do. It has none of the binding force of law. If it makes the declaration, distinctly and specially, before making the contract, or at the time, then it becomes one of the terms of the contract, and those who loan it moneys do so upon the condition so expressed. But it is no law. It is simply part of the Contract.

Some day, also, we may discuss the effects likely to result from an enormous expansion of the circulation, by the substitution of Treasury notes for a thousand and a half millions of bonds; and the possibility of maintaining such a currency at anything approximating to par. We do not believe this possible, and the consequences of expansion, its effects on the prices of labour, provisions and property must be very serious.

We of the South have, just now, too little interest in the financial affairs of the United States, or, if not, too little voice in regard to them to make such discussions, which must for the most part be but speculations, either interesting or profitable.

The new issues which are looming up, and which have already startled the Demon of Radicalism in its fancied security are these:

First: The payment of the principal of the national debt in the depreciated currency.

Second: Direct repudiation of the whole debt.

Third: Taxation of the bonds issued by the Government in the hands of the holders.

The first is repudiation to the amount of the difference between the value of the currency and that of coin.

The third is the violation of a positive contract and the breaking of a solemn pledge given by the nation.

But neither of them, nor even the second, is any worse than the repudiation of the continental paper, with which the United States commenced house-keeping.

No moral obligations will restrain the people at large from repudiating the whole debt. They are never controlled by such considerations, however honest they may be individually. It is singular that as individual good sense becomes, in popular assemblies, accumulated folly, one of these bodies, however constituted, rarely acting wisely. So individual honesty disappears in such assemblies and in popular action, and the most dishonest acts are done without hesitation or compunction.

It is quite certain that the bonds will be taxed. The people lend a ready ear to denunciations of an aristocracy of untaxed bondholders; as dislike of an aristocracy of slaveholders had infinitely more to do with the anti-slavery agitation, than care or concern for the "images of God cut on ebony."

It is quite certain, also, that the bonds will be paid in currency. True, it is pro tanto repudiation; but the people are demoralized by civil war, and will not deal honestly, if honesty involves high taxes.

And we see that general repudiation is daily growing in favour, and the idea of it becoming daily more familiar to the people. It will be quite as honest as compelling the people of the South to repudiate their war debt. It will be quite as honest as the legal-tender act, under which the courts, which ought to be the custodes morum, the guardians of the public morals, held that when a man has solemnly promised, by his note, to pay borrowed gold with gold, he may rob the friend who loaned him the gold, by paying him in greenbacks with a third of what he borrowed. It will be quite as honest as it was to repudiate the Continental money. It will be quite as honest as it was to establish a Court of Claims, to get rid of as many just claims against the Government as possible, by every kind of quirk and quibble, and indecent and contemptible resort to technicalities, and then for Congress to reserve to itself the power of rejecting the few claims which had passed the hostile ordeal of the Court-no-Court, of Claims.

The foreigners of the northwest and the negroes of the South will vote in favour of repudiation, almost to a man and negro. The Radical party may well dread these new issues. All thinking men may well dread them; for they involve the honour of the country and are to prove its ruin. Meanwhile, the dance of the devils goes on, and Radicalism has signed the bond, written in kind, that sells its soul to Satan, in order to win another history by establishing negro States. Its motto is, "Agnes nous le deluge;" after us the deluge. "Let posterity take care of itself. What has it done for us?"

[COMMUNICATED.]

A Proposition from Mr. Woodruff.

Editors Memphis Appeal: It was not my intention to notice any communication that might appear in the city papers unless the writers came out over their own signatures. But as one of the party, writing for the Bulletin, says, "We understand some of the first business men of this city, men who have no confidence in the present incompetent officials, but, an abiding confidence in the road and its capacity, rightly managed, to work clear of all financial difficulties, are willing to pledge their private fortunes to the extent of eight millions, that, it shall be successfully run in the interest of Memphis," etc., etc.

In order to test the truthfulness of their assertions I will make this proposition: If the party who wish to get control of the road, or if their wealthy friends, who fear the interest of Memphis has not been fully awarded, will come forward and pay the amount advanced by the Louisville and Nashville railroad company, and assume to pay the liabilities they have assumed, I will have the lease transferred to them, (or a new one made, with the consolidation clause out, if they so prefer). I will decline a re-election, and will use all the influence that I possess, with the stockholders of the Memphis and Ohio railroad company, to induce them to vote for any set of directors they may select.

Gentlemen, this is a plain, and I consider, a fair proposition. If you are sincere in your opposition and fear Memphis is about to be injured by the lease, prove your sincerity by your acts. Come forward and do for Memphis and the Memphis and Ohio railroad what the Louisville and Nashville company is willing to do, and I will pledge the lease shall be transferred to you.

A. WOODRUFF, President
M. & O. R. R. Co.

MEMPHIS, TENN., September 30, 1867.

—Attention was called at the last meeting of the British association to the subject of meteors, and Mr. Glaisher remarked that it was incontestably proved that these bodies have orbits, and their movements, though erratic, are governed by the same laws as those which govern the planets.

NASHVILLE MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

At the municipal election in Nashville on last Saturday, the Rads had it all their own way. There were two candidates—one a native Radical, SCOVEL, and the other a "Bummer," or Northern Radical, ALDEN. Of course the "Bummer" was elected, which we hope will always be the case, under military rule. The following was the summing up:

Alden	2427
SCOVEL	238

We congratulate Gen. GRANT upon the success of his instructions to his subordinate, THOMAS.

THE NORTH CAROLINA NEGROES ARMING.

The Salisbury (N. C.) Banner says: "We are informed that negroes have been seen drilling in our streets at night. What does it mean? Are the authorities aware of the fact? We do not believe it, and therefore call their attention to it. We do not believe Col. EDDY will take steps to have the matter investigated and stopped. Such demonstrations can effect no good results, but are calculated to produce those of a most serious nature. They are highly revolutionary, treasonable, and incendiary, without authority of law, and prejudicial to good order." This exhibits a bird's-eye view of a part of the operations of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The Scourge in Texas.

A Virginian in Texas writes to a friend in this city an interesting letter, from which we are allowed to make the following extract:

NAVASOTA, distant about ten miles from this place, is a little town of about three thousand inhabitants. Of the three thousand only about three hundred were silly enough to brave the epidemic. Of the three hundred that remained, over one hundred have already died. Of the remaining two hundred over half are sick, and of the sick nearly all will die, judging from the past course of the disease. The accounts from there are truly heart-rending. Woman without their husbands—husbands without their wives having lost all their children, are represented as wandering about the streets perfectly crazy. The dead, many of them, are lying on the streets unburied. Of the buried, almost all are unsheeted and unshrouded, and some of them uncoffined, being thrown in goods boxes with a few inches of earth scattered over them. Man power and man skill are as nothing, and the people look and pray for help only from Him, who, in His unscrutible wisdom, has added to their cup of gall, already overflowing, another ingredient of great bitterness.—Petersburg Intelligencer.

Health of Natchez.

The Natchez Democrat has the following in reference to the health of that city:

The health of our city continues very good, a fact we have so often repeated that we feel under obligations to say to our readers that we only continue to speak of it for the reason that rumors to the contrary have gained credence in the interior. Such rumors, having no foundation in fact, do us a great injury and create unnecessary alarm among the country people.

[WESTERN ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS.]

The Croton national bank was closed by government examiner to-day, having failed to redeem its circulating notes on demand. A receiver will be appointed. The capital of the bank was $200,000, a considerable part of which seems to have been lost. The circulation is $150,000, which, of course, is secured and will be redeemed at the treasury. The deposits, amounting to $30,000, belong mostly to country creditors, and probably will be eventually paid. The bank has no Wall street deposits, and its failure has scarcely produced any effect.

WANTED—THE PATENT
AURORA OIL.

We want men everywhere to study their own INTERESTS. The right to manufacture and sell the Patent Aurora Oil in a single county will make more money to the purchaser in three months than the largest farm in your county will make in a whole year. The Aurora Oil actually costs less than one-half the price of Coal Oil, and the illuminating power of the Aurora Oil is as much superior to the Coal Oil as the Coal Oil is to tallow candle, and is NO MORE explosive than a tallow candle. Any Lamp that will burn Coal Oil will burn the Aurora Oil. It does not smoke the chimney—it does not smell—it will not grease or stain the finest linen—not even white cotton. The material for its manufacture is inexhaustible, one man can make seventy-five barrels per day. No machinery required. We will pay your fare to and from the city of Memphis and bills while here, if we cannot prove all, and even more, than we have stated. A single county is a small fortune to the man of enterprise, and the right to a State is simply immense.

THE SNATCH GAME.—A negro named Henry Galloway went into a saloon in Pinch yesterday to obtain a drink. He proffered a ten-dollar bill in payment therefor. A white woman known as Josephine came up and snatched the bill, whereupon the negro and she skedaddled. The loser not liking this mode of confiscation, complained to Mr. Justice Miller, who issued his warrant for the arrest of the accured.

A TRIO.—A trio of negroes were arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Peter W. Wren and Ed. McGuire, charged with stealing a quantity of clothing, a valuable gold watch, a pair of bracelets and other jewelry from the house of Mrs. Osgood, on the corner of Main and Exchange street. The property was all recovered, the accused brought before Mr. Justice Miller and committed to the county jail.

AT IT AGAIN.—The notorious Mike Dunn has been at his tricks again. He was found yesterday secreted in the store of Goodlet & Gilliland, No. 291 Front street. He was doubtless trying to play the same game on this house that he did on Passmore. One of the employees, however, arrested him in his mad career. Officer Chamberlin took charge of the accused and furnished him with quarters in the first station on Adams street.

ATTWOOD & ANDERSON.—This firm is located at No. 2 Promenade street, foot of Jefferson, and do a general commission, cotton factorage and grocery business. They deal in hay, corn, oats, bran, flour, bacon, lard, whisky, etc., and by their close attention to business and fair dealing have built up a reputation second to no other house. They solicit a continuance of the liberal support extended them, and hope to merit the appreciation of their friends by proper attention to all business confided to their care.

WAGON MANUFACTORY.—Messrs. James & Rossa, 92 Jefferson street, are the proprietors of the only wagon manufactory in the city, and being superior workmen and using the best material, should be liberally patronized by our citizens. It requires a considerable effort to establish an enterprise of this sort in Memphis, and Messrs. James & Rossa have supplied this great desideratum and with a proper encouragement will make it a fixed institution. They will sell a wagon cheaper than it can be bought in Cincinnati.

A SOLID HOUSE.—Perhaps one of the largest wholesale grocery establishments in the city is that of Messrs. Fargason, Cordes & Co., 328 Front street. The energy and enterprise of these gentlemen, the high character they sustain in our mercantile community, and the extent of their operations, is certainly not surpassed, if equalled, by any similar establishment in Memphis. Their stock is new and of choicest quality; their prices are as low as can be found, and they feel satisfied that an inspection will result in a purchase. We commend them to our readers as gentlemen every way worthy of their consideration.

TOBIN, LYNN & CO.—The well known and popular firm of Tobin, Lynn & Co., cotton factors and dealers in dry goods, groceries and plantation supplies, No. 346 Main street, are still in the field, to serve their customers in any way. From a casual observation we notice that they are receiving cotton from Mississippi and other points, and doing a thriving business. Mr. Wm. J. Pace and Mr. John W. Chamberlin are connected with this house, and have charge, exclusively, of the cotton business. The members of the firm rank high in business circles. The administrative ability of one of the firm cannot be doubted—the balance is well vouched for.

BOARD OF HEALTH.—An adjourned meeting of the board of health was held yesterday at the Gayoso house. Present: Drs. Knode, Brown, Pittman, Sim, Otey, Taylor, Fraser and Rogers. Dr. Rogers, president, in the chair. Considerable discussion was had on health matters, but no action was taken in the premises. Dr. Rogers moved the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:
Resolved, That we tender our sincere thanks to Col. Cockrell of the Gayoso house, for his kindness and consideration in furnishing the board of health a room for their deliberations, and for the very elegant dinner tendered its members and invited guests; and that in him we recognize the public spirited citizen, the genial and clever gentleman, and the hospitable host whose many similar acts of kindness have endeared him to this community, and commends him to the traveling public.
Whereupon the board adjourned to meet to-day at 12 o'clock.

THE METROPOLITAN POLICE.—We give the reports of the number of arrests by the police in each district during the month of September, and also the business of the quarter ending September 30th:

First District—The report of Capt. S. S. Garrett, of the arrests in the First district, during the month of September, shows a total of 438 arrests for the following offenses, viz: Assault with intent to kill, 6; assault, 29; burglary, 3; beating with pistol, 3; breach of ordinance, 74; bigamy, 3; carrying concealed weapons, 13; disorderly house, 1; fraud, 2; gambling, 3; intoxication, 55; intoxication and disorderly conduct, 85; insulting females in the street, 1; interfering with officers, 2; keeping bawdy house, 4; larceny, 21; suspicion of larceny, 9; murder, 1; nuisance, 8; receiving stolen goods, 3; robbery, 10; selling liquor without license, 5; selling liquor on Sunday, 4; threatening, 9; trespass, 14; vagrancy, 5; fighting, 44; street-walking, 25.

BOARD OF MAYOR AND ALDERMEN.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR.

Messrs. Brown and Hill Take their Seats.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen was held at their chambers, Exchange building, yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Present: Hon. Mayor Lofland, Chairman Hulbert, Aldermen Powers, Glancy, Cochran, Wickersham, Amis, Holst, Shaw, Ruffin, Lemon, Smith and Passmore. The board was called to order, when Dr. Brown, one of the aldermen elect from the Fourth ward, was sworn in and took his seat. The minutes of the last meetings were read, and ordered to stand as recorded. The following message from the mayor was then read:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, CITY HALL,
MEMPHIS, TENN., October 1, 1867.

To the Honorable Board of Aldermen:

Gentlemen: Having suspended Francis Foster, Esq., city engineer, I proceed, according to the city ordinances, to give my reasons for so doing.

I charge Mr. Foster with a want of attention to the details of the work under his supervision, and a want of competency as an engineer to have charge of such important public improvements as are now in progress.

The unfinished condition of the sewers at the bayou on the streets to be paved is an evidence of a want of skill or judgment that cannot be overlooked. These sewers should have been finished and allowed to settle days before the pavers had laid down their pavements, but they were not commenced until the pavement was laid so near to the bayou that the contractors were obliged to stop the work until they were finished, causing great inconvenience to the contractors, and perhaps damage and loss to the city.

The obstructions made in some instances in the pavement, after it was laid, and in many instances in the grades and fills on the streets, during the progress of the paving, is another evidence of the want of attention, or a want of skill in his profession.

These charges of a lack of duty and a want of professional skill can be established, all or each, together with his conduct regarding an order given by me, to two of his assistant engineers, to measure and estimate the amount of paving done on Jefferson and old Madison streets, and Charleston avenue, were the most flagrant acts of his suspension. An estimate had been returned to me by Mr. Foster, certified by himself, making the amount due for work on these streets $67,076 85. A copy of this estimate accompanies this communication, marked A.

I did not believe this estimate was correct, and determined to have it tested before a settlement was made with the contractors, who had been promised a settlement and payment by each o'clock on Friday. In order to en ble me to comply in time with the promise made them, I directed Messrs. Hood and Stockton, assistant engineers, to measure, etc., estimate the work, and report to me as soon as practicable.

They had nearly completed it, when they were ordered by Mr. Foster to stop the measurement, for the reason that all orders for work in his department should emanate from him. Mr. Foster also stated in that he had stopped the measurement, because he was satisfied the estimate was correct, and, that if it was not, the contractors were responsible to the city for his errors.

Messrs. Hood and Stockton were directed to measure and estimate the work for the purpose of detecting and correcting the errors and blunders of Mr. Foster, and it did not become his to countermand an order to accomplish this object. For this unwarrantable interference with my order, and want of skill in his profesional duties, I suspended him, and directed those gentlemen to proceed with the measurement and estimate—the result of which fully sustains my opinion of the incorrectness of Mr. Foster's estimate. A copy of their report, marked B, accompanies this, and shows a difference in Mr. Foster's estimate of $31,289 98 against the city. Messrs. Hood and Stockton made two careful measurements of the work, and I am fully satisfied of the correctness of their report, and have no interest in the matter in order suspending Mr. Foster. The estimate returned by Mr. Foster was intended as a final estimate of the work done on the streets mentioned, and upon it, the contractors expected payment in full.

In view of the immense amount involved, over $1,500,000, now under contract, besides the general interest of the city, I deem it for your honorable body to determine whether it is proper to leave this vast interest in the hands of an officer who, either from culpable neglect or official duty or from a want of professional skill, commits such blunders as are here complained of.

As a measure of retrenchment, I directed the street commissioner to reduce the force to twenty-five men from this date, and make a corresponding reduction in his hands. My opinion is that the whole force had better be discharged. They cannot give the city an equivalent in work for the amount it costs to pay them, to make their wages in scrip equal to cash. It amounts to nearly four dollars per day to the hand, and there is no legal power vested in me to warrant such an outlay of city indebtedness.

Under the management of your improvement committee and street commissioner, the streets and bridges are in better condition than they have been for years, and I am sure that our citizens are, in the main, satisfied with the efforts made on these improvements, and will approve, if they do not expect, a wholesale reduction in the expenses of this department; but as some of the members of your honorable body think it is the best policy to retain a portion of the force for the present month, to finish up work already commenced, I have directed the street commissioner to retain twenty-five men, until the end of the month, and hope my action will meet your approval.

There has been of late no order of the board to increase or diminish the street force—the commissioner exercising his discretion, as his necessity for hands might require, hence my directions to discharge a portion of the force without an order of the board.

The acting city engineer informed me there would be employment for a corps of men in his department. I have therefore requested him to relieve that number of men from duty.

The eight men whose wag s are allowed by the board, now employed on the sanitary department, under the direction of the superintendent of police commissioners, will be discharged in a few days.

I hope your honorable body will approve of and sanction these efforts to retrench our current expenses, and to accomplish more effectually a reduction of expenditures. I suggest a strict adherence to the following ordinance, which has been overlooked for some time by all of us, to-wit:

Page 241, section 6: "No work shall be ordered or contracted or entered into by the board of aldermen involving an expenditure of five hundred dollars or over, unless the money is actually in the treasury for the payment of the same, or unless the finance committee shall have certified that funds will be on hand to meet the same when due."

All of which is respectfully submitted,
W. O. LOFLAND, Mayor.

REPORTS OF CITY OFFICERS.

The acting city engineer reported the expenditures of that office for the month as $7758 15; the number of square yards of Nicolson pavement laid by Forrest, Mitchell & Co., 19,681 10-100 square yards of paving, and 6911 17-100 feet of curbing, costing $117,452 16, of which the city's portion is $50,103 05; of stone pavement there has been laid 987 56 100 square yards, and 593 61-100 feet of curbing, costing $4990 24; city's portion $212 59.

The city tax collector reported having received $35,188 90 from all sources.

The wharfmaster collected $3667 45.

The privilege tax-collector received $17,884 50.

The north marketmaster collected $399 90, and the south marketmaster received $420 85.

The lumber inspector reported his fees for the month as $8 68.

The city inspector reported his collections at $365 15.

The fire warden reported but two fires during the month—damage $325—which was fully covered by insurance.

Dr. J. M. Keller, physician in charge of the City hospital, reports: Number patients on hand last report, 92; admitted since, 154; total treated in hospital during the month, 246; discharged, 129; died, 25; in hospital, 92.

Alderman Ruffin moved to refer that portion of the mayor's message referring to the city engineer to a committee of three. Adopted.

The chair appointed Aldermen Ruffin, Passmore and Cochrane as such committee.

Considerable discussion was had upon that part of the mayor's message recommending a reduction of the street force.

Alderman Ruffin urged its reduction.

Alderman Passmore opposed it in a very forcible and eloquent speech, urging the necessity of the retaining of the present street force, and charging the present finance committee with inefficiency, they never having submitted any proposition whereby the city would be benefitted in their present embarrassed condition. He was decidedly in favor of keeping the present street force until the first of November at least.

Alderman Amis moved to postpone the consideration of the matter till the first Monday in November, which was lost by the casting vote of the chairman.

The recommendation of the mayor was adopted by the same vote.

Alderman Hill was then sworn in, and took his seat.

Alderman Cochran, from the landing committee, submitted a report, reporting adversely on several petitions for privileges on the levee.

Alderman Passmore submitted his usual budget of accounts, which, with a report recommending their payment, was adopted.

Alderman Hill was appointed chairman of committee on finance.

Alderman Hill submitted a report recommending that assessors and clerks be allowed five dollars per day for their services.

The committee to whom was referred the ordinance abolishing the city pound, reported in favor of its ordinance, which report was adopted by a vote of 10 to 2.

Alderman Wickersham, from the special committee to whom was referred the ordinance in reference to the propriety of the city taking $250,000 stock in the Memphis Gayoso gas company, reported in favor of the passage of the ordinance and approving of the recommendations comprised in the mayor's message.

By the same: An amendment providing for the holding of an election to test the sense of the citizens as to the measure on the 12th day of October.

Alderman Passmore opposed the measure strenuously in a lengthy speech, accusing the members of the board of expressing an intention to retrench, but failing to carry out their promises.

Alderman Shaw moved that the whole matter be referred back to the ordinance committee.

Alderman Smith was strongly in favor of the ordinance, as he believed it was the best way to break up a monopoly which the citizens had long been imposed upon. He hoped that the days of high prices was gone by. He had no personal interests in the matter, and worked only for the good of the whole people.

Alderman Amis moved to adjourn till to-morrow evening. Lost.

The motion to refer was carried by the casting vote of the chairman.

The mayor made the following nominations for assessors for the corporate year: Hon. John Park, Wm. Underwood and L. J. Dupree, which were unanimously confirmed.

The board then adjourned to meet this evening at 4 o'clock.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM OUR SPECIAL.

PROGRESS OF THE NIAGARA EXCURSION.

SOUTHERN HOTEL, St. Louis, Sept. 29, 1867.

Dear Old Appeal: After one of the most delightful trips I have ever encountered, we arrived here this morning, without an incident to mar the pleasure of the journey. Before bidding farewell to the staunch old Jacobs, a meeting was held by the ladies, and resolutions of the most complimentary character passed, and copies of them presented to Capt. Crane and Mr. Wm. Mason, the clerk, and at the request of a number of the party I insert a toast drank at dinner yesterday: "To the ladies—May they, like Rachel of old, ever be found willing to wait fourteen years for their Jacobs, to take them on through the voyage of life, and show them the *cranes and Mother Carey's chickens that adorn its bosom; and, when the gong sounds, ever ready to Mass on the objective point, the table," which was drank in silence.

Through the kindness of our genial friend Byington, carriages met us at the landing here, and took us to the famous gardens of Mr. Shaw, some three miles out, where we were fortunate in meeting the proprietor, one of the gentlemen of the olden time, who, although an old bachelor, seems to be an indefatigable ladies' man, and kindly showed us his garden, which surpasses anything of the kind in America. I have neither the time nor inclination to enter upon a description of it; suffice it to say that it is beautiful beyond description, and one item of the collection will seem to show the magnitude of it. Of the Cactus family alone he has two hundred and thirty varieties. I shall never grumble at the Memphis dust again, for the suburbs of St. Louis surpass it so far that it is not worth mentioning. We have just returned to this hotel, the finest in the west, and whilst the ladies are amusing themselves riding up and down in the elevator and taking bird's eye views of the city, I have stolen off to write you. We have a little evening at 8 o'clock, and will be in Chicago at 7 a. m. to-morrow and leave at 7 a. m. Tuesday for the Falls via Detroit and the Suspension Bridge. The party are in excellent health and fine spirits, and one and all desire to be remembered to the loved ones at home.

SPECIAL.

*Near New Madrid we saw an immense flock of sand-hill cranes, numbering probably 2000, Capt. Crane being the commander.

OBITUARY.—Mr. James H. Lawler, formerly of the old 154th Tennessee regiment, died on Jefferson street, Monday last, at the residence of Col. Thornton. He was twenty-five years of age at his death, and born in Lewis county, Missouri, and when the late war broke out, joined the Zouaves, and was taken prisoner at the battle of Franklin and carried to Camp Chase, but was returned to his command in time to participate in the battles of Shiloh, Murfreesboro' and Jonesboro. He won an enviable reputation in the old 154th—that glorious old regiment whose name is indissolubly linked with a glorious immortality. He was a young man of correct habits, exemplary deportment, and an unsullied reputation. Peace to his ashes.

FIRE YESTERDAY.—The alarm of fire yesterday about two o'clock was occasioned by the partial burning of a kitchen attached to a building occupied by negroes, between Court and Madison streets. Our efficient fire brigade was on hand, and but little damage was done to the buildings.

TITLES GOOD.—If any title fail to any piece of property in schemes of the Southern Aid Union, the value of the property less ten per cent. will be paid to the winner of the prize. Five dollars may secure $20,000 and one dollar $5000. Call at the office of the company.

CRICKET.—A meeting of the St. George's Cricket Club will be held tonight at the Merchant's saloon, corner of Main and Madison street, for the election of officers for the ensuing year. A goodly attendance is expected.

SCOTIA'S SONS.—The regular monthly meeting of the St. Andrew's society will be held to-night at the Wickersham building, corner of Third and Jefferson streets. A full attendance of members is particularly desired.

All Ladies will be pleased to learn that B. A. Hollenberg, proprietor of the Memphis Steam Dyeing Establishment, No. 212 Beal street, has opened a convenient office at 250 Second street, where all kinds of goods, old, faded and soiled, will be elegantly Dyed and Renovated. NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—The play of The Serf was produced at the New Memphis last night. The audience was not large, but select. The manager, for his efforts in producing the legitimate drama, is entitled to a better support. It is to be hoped that as the season advances the houses will be larger and his receipts increased. Miss Belle Boyd appeared as the "Countess," playing in her usual style, and pleasing her audience. The other parts were well filled. To-night we are to have the Ticket of Leave Man, in which Miss Boyd will appear as "May Edwards."

IN TOWN.—We were glad to receive visits yesterday from our friends, Judge Harrison P. Reid, of the Friar's Point Coahomian, Mose Parrish, of the Bolivar Bulletin, M. Mumsford, of the Covington (Tipton county) Record, and last but not least, the elegant Col. Robt. H. Crockett, of Little Rock. May this worthy quarto long exist, and enliven us often with their presence.

SECOND DRAWING

—OF THE—

Southern Asylum

LAND COMPANY,

TO TAKE PLACE AT

HERNANDO, MISS., AUGUST, 1867.

THE First Drawing, which took place at Hernando, Miss., on the 15th inst., was attended with unusual success, when it is remembered that but a few weeks elapsed from the inception of the enterprise to that event. $17,000 worth of lands were sold, a like amount of property was drawn for, under the supervision of gentlemen selected by the ticket holders present. The utmost harmony and good feeling pervaded those present, and, as will be seen from the subjoined certificate of the Managers, the affair was conducted to a close in a most gratifying and satisfactory manner:

HERNANDO, MISS., June 15, 1867.

We hereby certify that the above report of the First Drawing of the Southern Asylum is correct, and that the proceedings were characterized by a spirit of fairness and justness unsurpassed by any drawing of which we have any knowledge. The Managers of the Company placed the tickets and wheels under our sole management and control.

Signed: J. R. MORGAN, ROBERT TEMPLE, V. A. MERRIWETHER, W. W. CAMPTON, M. MAGEE, JOHN AINSLIE, Committee.

Memphis Wholesale Dry Goods Market.

A large number of buyers have been in the market during the past week and purchases, though smaller than usual at this season, were in the aggregate very fair. Prices during the week have varied very little, but the tendency of cotton goods is downward in sympathy with the raw material. Notwithstanding the embargo which low water has placed upon the transportation of goods, stocks come in rapidly, and we are assured that during no previous season was there such a wide range of merchandise as is at present on hand in the market. Our merchants are dealing liberally with customers, and country buyers could find no better market in the west in which to purchase than here.

Memphis Wholesale Boot and Shoe Market.

In boots and shoes we have no material change in prices to note. The market has been active during the week and firm, but so far no advance is asked, although goods—particularly the medium styles—have advanced in the eastern markets to nine figures at which they are held here. The coarse, strong shoes of antibellum times are rarely seen, while the red "Jeff" boot has ceased to be an article of commerce. Our market is well stocked with every style of wear, and prices it will be seen by reference to our quotations and a comparison with the price list of eastern cities, is very favorable to buyers. The decline in gold from above, and the epidemic prevailing in more southern cities, adds no little to our advantages this season, and those merchants who, last year, would might have bought elsewhere, have sought this market, and in fact no project that the business connections thus formed will not be temporary.

The past week has been one of activity among our wholesale houses, and prices have been firm in all things, while owing to the increase of freights many articles have advanced. The market for bagging, rope and ties is active and firm. Wheat is in demand by our city millers. Corn is scarce but dull, with no demand except for local consumption; ear corn is becoming an article used for feeding purposes more sought after than shelled. Bran is scarce and firm. Hay is dull. Oats are in light supply and firm. Butter, eggs and poultry are scarce and in demand. Meats of all kinds are very firm, with light supply, owing to continued low water in the rivers. Onions and potatoes are plentiful but firm.

There is no favorable news to report of the cotton market. It has declined gradually since our last review, and closes weak. The receipts for the past week amount to 406 bales, or 761 short about 150 bales are of the new crop. The shipments for the week were 710 bales. The receipts for the month of September foot up 2693 bales; shipments 2189 bales. The New York market to-day opened quiet but steady at 22c for uplands; it closed dull and nominal at 21½ to 22c for uplands; Orleans at 22¾ to 23c. There are few buyers in this market, owing probably to the scarcity of funds and the indisposition of our banks to part with currency at this juncture, but we look for more inquiry within the next few days. Among the sales to-day we note 26 bales strict middling at 20 to 20¼c; 22 bales middling at 19 to 19½c; 15 bales good ordinary at 17 to 17½c, and 3 bales low middling at 15 to 15½c.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

Yesterday was cool and pleasant. The rivers are unchanged, except at St. Louis, where the rise has been about fifteen inches in the past forty-eight hours. This swell comes from the upper Mississippi, and will not amount to much. At Phillips the Marble City reports four feet eight inches; five feet at Island 34, and cutting out at both places. No change in other rivers.

Boats in Port.

Steamers St. Patrick, Pilgrim and American.

MISCELLANEOUS.

We learn that Capt. Tom Berry will go out to-day in charge of the Pilgrim.

Business was good on the landing today, and the Commercial left with a full trip—after refusing freight.

The Bridgeport is still reported aground at Phillips. The Rose Hambleton was working at her when the Marble City passed down.

The Louisiana was above Phillips at last report, and will no doubt lighten over.

The Adam Jacobs was drawing five feet one inch on her down trip. She lightened over Phillips, and rubbed heavily at 34, but was delayed only a short time.

The Ozark, which left for Little Rock, did not even reach Pine Bluff. She only reached Hall's landing, or Sycamore Grove, and was unable to cross the bar. The Van Buren came down and took her freight. The Ozark will possibly be in port this morning.

The Adam Jacobs, Capt. Crane, will be in port to leave for St. Louis, at 5 p.m. to-morrow. She is one of the safest boats afloat. Mr. Masson is the well known chief clerk.

The St. Patrick did not get her repairs finished in time to leave last evening. She will start to-day at 12 m. for Vicksburg and the lands. Capt. Garrett J. Huls is master, and Dr. Clay Rice is purser.

The American did not get freight enough to leave last night. She will get away to-day, provided she gets a trip. Capt. Nowland is master.

The swift and handsome steamer Pilgrim, having over sixty tons of freight on board, will leave to-night without fail for Little Rock and all way points. The Pilgrim is a Memphis boat—owned here, and is one of the staunchest low water packets afloat. Capt. Ike Whittaker is her master, and J. Lee Finney is chief clerk. Andy Granger is also one of the pursers of the Pilgrim. Shippers should not forget her.

The many friends of Capt. Will. Wood will be glad to learn that he has almost recovered from his recent illness, and is able to be again about.

According to the last estimate, the number of steamboats upon the Mississippi river between New Orleans, is put down at eighty; Cincinnati claims one hundred and fifty; St. Louis, two hundred and ten; Pittsburg, one hundred and fifty-nine; and Louisville, sixty-six. The total value of the property is estimated at over $20,000,000.

Memphis is not far behind, and our citizens are interested in many boats, which are, no doubt, claimed by other ports.

During the present low water in the Cumberland, a great deal of sunken machinery has been taken up, and shipped to the north. Six or eight thousand dollars' worth, at least, has been fished up in the neighborhood of Nashville alone.
